RATINGS DEFINITIONS

Ratings	As Applied to a New or Recently Promoted Employee
Consistently Exceeds	This rating would be appropriate if the level of performance far exceeded normal expectations. It requires observation of performance over time at consistently high levels that may not be observable within the first year of a new job.
Frequently Exceeds	This rating would be appropriate if the level of performance exceeded normal expectations. It requires observation of performance over time, which may not be observable in the first year of a new job.
Successfully Meets	This rating would be an appropriate designation for employees in the first year of a new job who are still learning the job if their performance is consistent with the normal expectations for a new employee with similar skills, experience, and capabilities.
Partially Meets	This rating should only be used for employees in the first year of a new job who are not meeting the normal expectations for someone with similar skills, experience, and capabilities who is still learning the job and becoming acclimated to the institution.
Does Not Meet (must consult HRM)	This rating requires a prior discussion with your HR Business Partner and usually a performance plan; it is only for employees who in the first year of a new job are performing unsatisfactorily.
